

Same formula. Different NBA leaders.

Changing the comparison window changed the answer. The win-rate definition stayed the same.

WIN RATE

Wins ÷ games played

Descriptive rankings of the documented sample.

San Antonio Spurs leads the historical sample.

59.53%

2,427 wins / 4,077 games

Available historical sample: seasons
1946-2022. Franchise coverage and sample size differ by team.

Baseline view; no exploratory team filter.

Golden State Warriors leads in 2013-2022.

66.53%

656 wins / 986 games

Same win-rate definition, narrower season window. This is not a current-season ranking or a forecast.

Baseline view; no exploratory team filter.

Define the comparison before naming a winner.

1

Keep the definition stable

Wins divided by games played in both rankings.

2

Make scope visible

Period, population and denominator travel with the result.

The same discipline applies to branches, products and campaigns.

Explore the project on GitHub